BELIEVING as I do, that PROVIDENCE, at Fairfax Court-House, would be a suitable situation for mechanics of the above description, I offer to such, lots in that village for sale, on ground rent for ever—will build and furnish suitable houses and rent to them, or furnish brick to them to build with ; and invite any who feel disposed to settle there, for the purpose of carrying on their respective trades to advantage, to come and view the situation. It is a very public place, the centre of the county, where the superior and county courts are held. The Little River Turnpike Road passes through this little town from Alexandria westward, and where all the public meetings for the county, &c. are held ; and where trades of the aforesaid description being carried on, would meet with great encouragement, and be a public convenience to the country around. No situation can be more healthy—good water, and fire wood cheap. Mechanics of the above description must generally depend on the country people, farmers, &c. to be their customers. Here they would be in a convenient situation for all the purposes. I invite a call, and view for themselves. I would also furnish lots adjacent, from one to five acres each, for cultivation, pasture, &c. on moderate terms ; all of which can be shown, and terms made known, on application to RICH'D. ### Fifty Dollars Reward.

RAN away on the 28th of April, from the farm of the subscriber, in Dogue Neck, Fairfax Co. Virginia, negro HARRY, aged about twenty three years, about five feet ten inches high, very black, well built, has a considerable impediment in his speech, when spoken to evinces much confusion, and replies almost unintelligibly : had on when he left home, a much worn suit of domestic cloth. I have every reason to believe that he is endeavoring to pass for a free man, and as such went off in some of the bay craft during the late fishing season. All masters of vessels are forewarned from barboring or taking into their employ said negro, under penalty of having the law rigidly enforced against them. I will give twenty dollars, if taken in the county of Fairfax, or district of Columbia ; if beyond that distance, the above reward, provided he is secured in jail so that I get him again. IS known to have been kidnapped from a field near Germantown, between the hours of 12 and 2 o'clock, on the 30th ult. whilst at work alone, a Free Black Man, named HENRY HUDSON, aged between 21 and 22 years, of the height of five feet five inches, very black complexion and dark eyes, has a scar under his left arm, between the wrist and elbow, occasioned by the cut of an axe.

He is by occupation a farmer, a native of Kent county, in the state of Delaware, had on a blue cloth roundabout jacket, old black silk vest, corded velvet pantaloons, and a wool hat.

For Sale or Lease,

THE following tracts of land in Charles county, Maryland : one lying on the Potomac, at the mouth of Pomonkey creek, containing three hundred and forty acres, about 16 miles from Alexandria, the larger portion level land, of a stiff soil, well adapted to the cultivation of corn, wheat and tobacco, and equal in fertility to any in the neighborhood. On this farm is one of the most elegant sites for building of all those fine heights which border the Potomac, commanding the most extensive view of the adjacent country, both in Virginia and Maryland, for more than twenty miles up and down the river : located in a genteel neighborhood, it would make an agreeable residence, and from its proximity to market, with the advantage of the best navigation, an extremely profitable farm.—The tenant's houses would accommodate the negroes for its cultivation.

A Tract, about one mile back from the former, containing 334 acres, a large portion in wood, white and red oak, and some chesnut ; the remainder a tenement in tolerable repair, the whole a high stiff soil, similar to the one above mentioned.

A Tract, lying at the mouth of Mattawoman Creek, about 25 miles from Alexandria, the whole first rate flat river land, now completely enclosed.—On this tract is a noted fishery, called Rum Point, at which there has been cleared upwards of two thousand dollars per annum, and where independent of the fish sold on the shore, there might be put up from one to two thousand barrels every season ; besides the profits of the fishery, the advantage of manuring the farm with the offal of the shore, the whole, with a small portion of industry, might be made to produce ten barrels of corn per acre. On the shore, are a dwelling house, houses for holding salt, and curing any quantity of fish, and for the accommodation of hands.

A Tract, lying about 1½ miles from the last mentioned, containing 236 acres, more than 200 of which are in wood, and would cut from 25 to 30 cords per acre, within one mile of the river, where wood has rarely sold for less than five dollars per cord. It will be divided into 50 or 25 acre lots, to suit purchasers.—If preferred, the wood will be sold standing, for so much per acre.

If not disposed of, previous to the first day of Sept. next, the above mentioned arable lands, will be leased out, upon advantageous terms, for five or seven years, at the option of the lessees.

Application to be made to the subscriber, residing near the head of Mattawoman Creek, Charles county, Maryland.

FRIDAY, JULY 23, 1819.

The intelligence of an expedition having recently been fitted out on the Mississippi, by some of our citizens for the invasion of the province of Texas, is confirmed in a Natchez paper of the 20th ultimo. The plan was devised in that city; and an unsuccessful attempt was made by the public authorities to arrest the ring leader, whose name is not mentioned. It is stated that there are not more than 300 Spanish troops in Texas for its defence, and that its conquest will be very easy. However anxiously we may feel for the independence of the Spanish provinces, and whatever right our citizens may individually possess to enter foreign service, all expeditions fitted out within the United States, to attack any territory belonging to a nation with whom we are at peace, are illegal, reprehensible, and ought to be crushed in the bud.

IMPORTANT FROM SOUTH AMERICA.

Extract of a letter from a highly respectable gentleman, dated St. Thomas, July 3, 1819.

"I hasten to apprise you that we have this day received information from Angustura, of an action fought on the 12th ultimo, at Curiana, by a division of the Spanish army under the command of general ARANA, and a division of the patriots led by MARINO, in which the royalists were totally defeated, with a loss of from 1000 to 1100 men, all their camp equipage, documents, &c. The patriots, I regret to add, suffered severely, having lost 400 men.

Eighty-eight persons were buried in this city last week, of whom 53 were children, and 35 adults. This number exhibits an unusual mortality; but the fact is not surprising, when twenty-four children died of one disease, cholera morbus. One person died on Sunday week of malignant fever.

WONDERFUL PRESERVATION.

A black man by the name of Peter Jackson, arrived here a few days since in the ship Malabar, captain Orne, from Bombay, after having been long supposed to have been buried in the depths of the ocean, and administration taken out in consequence upon his estate, and all his worldly accounts settled in due and legal form. His story is this:

Peter was cook on board the brig Ceres, of this port, Joseph Strout, jun master, on her voyage to Calcutta. In coming down Calcutta river, when near the Sand Heads, at the mouth of the river, the Ceres was overtaken by a violent storm of wind, accompanied with thunder and lightning, which threw the brig on her beam ends, and at the same time she struck aground on the sand bar; and after beating over into the deep water, she righted, and proceeded on her voyage. At the same time when the Ceres was knocked down, Peter Jackson fell overboard, and all their exertions to recover him proved unavailing; the tide was running rapidly at the time out of the river, and Peter, having got hold of a steering-sail boom which was thrown to him among other things, was floated down the river about seven miles below the place where he fell overboard. When the tide turned, he was carried up the river again, still supported by his little spar; and it having become dark he passed the vessel without seeing it or being seen by those on board. After being in the water about twelve hours, exposed to the sharks and alligators, which are very numerous in that river, he was providentially cast on shore at Calpee, having drifted upwards of thirty miles. From Calpee he took passage on board a country ship which was carrying soldiers to the Isle of France, and thence to Bombay; where, after waiting several months, he accidentally heard of a Salem ship being in port, on board of which he was received and brought home a few days since. Almost the first person he met, after his landing, was one of his old ship mates, who shrunk from his profered hand as from the ghost of one whom he had long since seen for the last time in the grasp of death; but was at length compelled to believe that he was not a mere shadow, but the real substantial Peter, risen again from his watery grave!

A boy of seven years of age, in the town of Weser, in Germany, playing one day with his little sister of four years old, was alarmed by the cry of some men who were in pursuit of a mad dog. The child suddenly looking round him, but instead of making his escape, he took off his coat and wrapped it round his arm, then boldly faced the dog, and holding out the arm covered with the coat, the animal attacked it, and worried the coat till the men came up, who being armed with clubs, killed the dog. The men reproachfully asked the boy why he did not run and avoid the dog, which he could so easily have done. Yes, said the little hero, I could have run from the dog, but, if I had, he would have attacked my sister; to protect her, therefore, I thought of offering him my coat, which he might tear at till you should come up and kill him. The men, as they well might, first admired his courage in facing the dog, but they were more astonished at the prudence and firmness of mind discovered by this phenomenon. The conduct of this wonderful child furnishes a useful hint to persons of more mature age in protecting themselves from the attack of a mad dog.

Bank Dividends.—The 1st inst. was one of the semi-annual periods for declaring a dividend by the Bank of the U. States—but no dividend is announced.

The Bank of Virginia and the Farmers' Bank of Virginia have agreed to make a dividend of 1¼ per cent. for the last six months—being a sufficiency only to pay the bonus to the state.—The individual stockholders get nothing.

The usual time for declaring dividends by several other banks has passed, without notice that a dividend has been declared.

In general, we are pleased with this—it manifests a determination in the banks to pay their debts; but it sits uneasy upon the widow and orphan, whose living has been made to depend upon expected profits from such institutions.

SUMMARY STATEMENT

Of latest intelligence from Venezuela, received by the brig Mary Ann, 10 days from St. Thomas.

In consequence of the detention of the expedition at Margarita, and the determination of Bolivar not to hazard a general action with a part of his troops, scarcely any thing but skirmishes took place in the Apune and Aranea, until the season was too far advanced to admit of farther operations there.

Meanwhile dispatches received from brigadier general St. Ander, in Cassanare, gave interesting views of events in that quarter. The prospect was flattering, especially after news arrived of MacGregor's capture of Porto-Bello; (they had not heard of his supineness and destruction.)

Determined not to be too far anticipated by MacGregor, or for other reasons, general Bolivar, now formed the design of joining St. Ander, with his infantry and the principal part of Paez's cavalry. He has left general Torres to command the Apure, where a small division of infantry, some cavalry and artillery remain. Our readers are aware, that from the beginning of June an army cannot operate on the inundated plains, adjacent to that river, and branches at their intersection with the Oronoco, and at several other points. They continue impracticable until December or January.

Morillo had divided his army into three divisions; one of them observes gen. Bolivar—one remains in San Fernando, and and the other was sent against Angostura in Guayana, by the way of Calaboza.

This corps had marched as far as the village of Pao, which they burnt on the 14th of June, and continued their march towards San Diego, where gen. Marino and Sedeno were encamped. On the 17th the congress were extremely alarmed, debated with closed doors, and had issued several orders to the military, when a courier brought the glad tidings on the morning of the 18th, that the royal 1st division under Aranja had been totally defeated by the independent forces just mentioned (Marino and Sedeno) after an obstinate well-fought battle. Upwards of 1000 were killed, and some prisoners, &c. fell into the hands of the victors.

On the arrival of general Urdaneta at Margarita, gen. Arismendi (the governor of the island) would not support him heartily in fitting out the expedition, but even plotted against him, endeavoring to withhold volunteers from his standard—he (A.) being piqued at not having the chief command. At the same time, Jolly and others, had spread discontent through the squadron, and occasioned much delay. This difference was compromised, and Jolly was to retain the ground rank under Admiral Brion. Arismendi and his particular adherents, to the number of 18, had been taken and sent to Angostura to be tried by a council of war.

If Urdaneta disembarks his army on the coast, and if gen Marino and Bermudez, who are before Cumana, should co-perate with him, they may enter Caraccas, and liberate Venezuela at a single blow.—Without prompt, and cheerful co-operation they cannot possibly succeed. Indeed, orders had been despatched to Urdaneta to return to Angostura, with his forces! A thing absolutely impracticable, at this season, in his circumstances. Things appear in an odd situation; the sudden march of Bolivar for New Grenada, and the want of arrangement for a general combined movement, with respect to others, would seem to create perplexity, and put much at hazard:—for, they are positively forbidden (it is said) to undertake the march to the capital—as they style Caraccas. Let us hope for the best. If the patriots are as pious or grateful as they ought to be, under such disjointed measures, they will give special thanks, that fate has assigned them only Spaniards, degenerate Spaniards for enemies! General Bolivar is expected to return to Venezuela by the month of December, after having liberated Santa-Fe. He will bring with him 10,000 infantry, if necessary, and then enter Caraccas. There is certainly the strongest probability that he will have complete success in New Grenada; as some important advantages have been gained already, and Santander has an army of 2500 men in Casanare, and arms and ammunition to supply the Patriots who join his standard. It is said there was much disaffection among the royalist forces in that quarter, many of whom deserted to the independents.

Many persons at Angostura admired this movement of Bolivar as chef d'œuvre of military policy and enterprize, from which the happiest fruits are to be gathered.

We learn with deep regret the death of Dr. Manuel Palacio, a member of the congress of Venezuela. He died on the 8th of May, after a fever of three days duration, but of an areurism of the aorta.—This distinguished, worthy man, was a zealous friend of freedom, and one of the few who understood something of the principles of liberty. He was a native of Barinas, but had graduated in the university of Santa-Fe, as doctor of the civil law, &c.—he possessed much physical knowledge, was a thorough chemist and a physician—and in his visits to North America, Paris and London, had greatly increased his stock of information. He is the author of the Outline of the Revolution, published in London, and re-published in New-York. Since his return, he had been chosen a deputy in the congress of Margarita, and was appointed secretary of state and of the treasury. When we recollect, that half a dozen of firm, intelligent patriots might have saved Venezuela in the most critical times from all the dictatorship, by strenuously maintaining the representative system, we feel inexpressible concern at the loss of Palacio, whilst the constituent congress were engaged in framing a constitution of civil government.

Possibly his death is a principal cause of the absurd or wicked resolution of a majority of that congress to sanction the provision of a senate for life. It was but a short time previous that a decided majority was against it. Messrs. Zea, Mendez, Brigeas, and Pendever had vindicated a hereditary senate, as well as the duration of the senatorial office for life; Messrs. Aizuru and Marcano opposed it—the former protesting against the admission of a senate for life. Was Roscio absent? or, could he be silent on the occasion?

As the congress of Venezuela scarcely represents 30,000 souls, though its formation is justifiable from necessity, we trust it will not urge the adoption of a principle so fatal to freedom—and we would fondly hope, that a majority will yet defeat the aristocratic plans of accumulating property and power hereditarily in a few persons.

The importance of Venezuela and New-Grenada must be so great, if they become and remain united, that one cannot behold this pernicious measure recommended as it is, without grief and disappointment. A fortunate turn of political events may frustrate the scheme of a perpetual senate, and rescue that fine country from a perpetual curse.—People who have struggled so long, and suffered so much, deserve more than a bare exchange of one species of tyranny for another.

P. S. Letters of late date received by this same conveyance, inform us, that the front of St. Juan de Griess, in Margarita, was blockaded by a Spanish squadron, and that the expedition (former accounts notwithstanding) had not sailed. If the blockading squadron be equal to Brion's, probably, the enterprize meditated on the part of the independents may be frustrated.

In a late debate in the British House of Commons, Mr. P. Moore, one of the members for Coventry, took occasion to state the distressed situation of his constituents. From this statement we select a few facts. The Poor's Rates had been increased to 45 shillings, equal to ten dollars an acre, and on house rent the poor's rate was advanced to 19s in the pound. How this must press upon small landholders and people in middling circumstances, must be obvious. Let us now hear what the member from Coventry says of the condition of the laboring classes, principally ribband weavers.—He divides them into five classes, all of them working 96 hours in the week, or 16 hours in the day. The first class receive for their labor ten shillings a week, or two pence half penny an hour. The second class gains five shillings and six pence per week. The third class earns two shillings and nine pence per week, which is working at the rate of four hours for five farthings. The two remaining classes receive two shillings and one shilling and sixpence a week, which is at the rate of seven and nine hours for a single halfpenny. In addition to this excessive labor and very reduced pay, Mr. Moore says, that these distresses have been of so long continuance, that the funds of all their friendly societies and saving banks are exhausted. The population of Coventry we presume to be 30,000.

So long as such accounts are reaching us from one of the most prosperous nations of the world, let us be certain that we are not the most miserable people, and be quite satisfied that we have abundant reason to be grateful not only for the enjoyment of all our religious, civil and political rights, but for all the blessings which the Giver of every good and perfect gift has poured upon our highly favored land. GEOLOGY OF THE WEST.

Extract of a letter from Caleb Atwater Esq.

DEAR SIR:

By looking over your two last papers, I perceive that you are re-publishing from the Journal of Science, an essay of mine on the Prairies and Barrens of the West.—Since writing that essay, I have collected some additional facts, which go to establish my speculations as to this country's being formerly covered with the waters of the Upper Lakes; and that their outlets were through the Sciota, Miami, and Illinois rivers. On the rocks of Mackinaw Island, I am credibly informed there are marks of the water of the lake, in which that Island is situated, having once been at least one hundred feet above its present level. All around the present shore of Lake Erie there are two distinct ridges, composed of exactly such pebbles as are now seen on the present shore of the lake, rounded by attrition in the water. At Ridgeville, Cuyahoga county, Moses Eldred, Esq. writes me, that, nine miles south of the present Lake shore, in digging a well at some considerable depth below the surface of the earth, cedars were found, and other things; evincing that the ridge, in which the well was sunk, was once the shore of Lake Erie. One gentleman informs me, that three hundred feet above the present surface of the Erie, petrified fishes, frogs, trees, &c. have been found in these ridges, presenting appearances similar to those found along the present shore.

Permit me to mention another fact, in confirmation of an opinion, as to Lake Erie and the Ohio being about on the same level. Eli Baldwin, Esq. has taken levels of the country between lake Erie and the Ohio River, from the mouth of Grand river to the mouth of the Mahoning or Big Beaver, and by actual measurement, the surface of the Ohio at that point is seventy feet higher than the surface of Lake Erie. The surface of the lake has been ascertained to be 558 feet above tide water at Albany which gives 628 feet for the height of the Ohio, at the mouth of Mahoning, above the surface of the ocean, and shows that the average decent of the Ohio and Mississippi is about four inches to a mile. It proves also that my conjectures as to the Ohio in a freshet at Portsmouth, and lake Erie, being about on the same level, cannot be far from the truth. If the surface of lake Erie were raised only 100 feet, it would now empty itself into the Ohio: that it has been much higher, I do not doubt.

Extract from unpublished "Notes on the State of Ohio."

ARTICLE GEOLOGY.

Many of these piles of sand and stone are seen from the town of Lancaster, on both sides of the Hockhocking, but one of them so far exceeds the others that it claims a particular description.—When the country was first settled, this pile was known by the name of "Standing Rock," but is now called "Mount Pleasant." In travelling eastwardly along the great road from Chilicothe to Wheeling, on decending a gentle hill into a beautiful prairie, to the westward of Lancaster, about one mile from the town, this tall and venerable pile of sand stone presents itself to the view of the traveller, in a northeastern direction from the eye, about two miles, and about one rather to the east or north from the town. Before him, he sees, across the prairie, the beautiful town of Lancaster, containing nearly one hundred and forty houses, many of which are lofty and even elegant, rising gradually from the eastern bank of the Hockhocking to the summit of a gentle hill on its eastern edge. Without a single object to intercept a full view, the spectator sees Mount Pleasant, which at once catches his eye and rivets his attention. It is said to be 500 feet in height, and is really 300. Its summit has been but little injured by time, and is a monument of what this sandstone formation was in all its pristine glory. Around the base of this pile, so many fragments and ruins lie scattered, that it is a difficult task to clear away the rubbish and ascertain the exact thickness of the sandstone formation at this spot, but, from appearances at its sides, it is probably 200 feet. On the summit of this pile grow a few stinted trees of the oak and pine families. On its sides grow what are commonly called 'laurel shrubs,' and there are a few of them on the very summit. Standing, as this lofty and venerable pile has, through a long lapse of ages past, in proud defiance of the dilapidating hand of time, and those mighty convulsions which have prostrated in the dust other once equally tall summits, Mount Pleasant merits the crown of laurel, with which nature with impartial hand has encircled its brow. Unlike many others who have worn crowns far richer, it is useful to the people of the vicinity, furnishing them with free stone and sand of the best quality, for building and other purposes, and bids fair to do so, for ages yet to come.

EMMETT'S LAST MOMENTS.

A late London paper furnishes the following interesting particulars of the last moments of Emmett, who was executed, during the troubles in Ireland, for a conspiracy, and whose name must be fresh in the recollection of many of our readers. He originated the last state trials, in which the late Mr. Curran acted as an advocate; and the genius of Moore has been exerted to embalm the memory of his misfortunes. [Rhode-Island Am.

One day previous to his trial, as the governor was going his rounds, he entered Emmett's room rather abruptly; and observing a remarkable expression in his countenance, he apologised for the interruption. He had a fork affixed to his little deal table, and appended to it there was a tress of hair. "You see," said he to the keeper, "how innocently I am occupied. This little tress has long been dear to me, and I am plaiting it to wear in my bosom, on the day of my execution." On the day of that fatal event there was found sketched by his own hand, with a pen and ink, upon that very table, an admirable likeness of himself, the head severed from the body, which lay near it, surrounded by the scaffold, the axe, and all the frightful paraphernalia of high treason execution.—What a strange union of tenderness, enthusiasm, and fortitude, do not the above traits of character exhibit! His fortitude, indeed, never forsook him.

On the night previous to his death, he slept sound as ever; and when the fatal morning dawned, he arose, knelt down and prayed, ordered some milk, which he drank, wrote two letters (one to his brother in America, and the other to the Secretary of State, inclosing it,) and then desired the sheriffs to be informed that he was ready.—When they came into his room, he said he had two requests to make—one, that his arms might be left as loose as possible, which was humanely and instantly acceded to. "I make the other," said he, "not under any idea that it can be granted, but that it may be held in remembrance that I have made it—it is, that I may be permitted to die in my uniform."* This, of course, could not be allowed: and the request seemed to have no other object than to show that he gloried in the cause for which he was to suffer. A remarkable example of his power over himself and others, occurred at this melancholy moment. He was passing out attended by the sheriffs and preceded by the executioner—in one of the passages stood the the turnkey, who had been personally assigned to him during his imprisonment; this poor fellow loved him in his heart, and the tears were streaming from his eyes in torrents. Emmett paused for a moment; his hands were not at liberty—he kissed his cheek—and the man who had been for years the inmate of a dungeon, habituated to scenes of horror and hardened against their operation, fell senseless at his feet. Before his eyes had opened again upon this world, those of the youthful sufferer had closed on it forever.

One Hundred Dollars Reward.

ON Monday, the 28th June, eloped from Bell Isle, King George county, Virginia, two negro men, DAVID and JOHN. David is a black fellow, about forty years of age, rather below the middle size, has invariably a smile when spoken to, a good hand in the field, and a tolerable wagoner; his clothing, when he absconded, were an old felt hat, a double milled drab great coat, much worn, lined with red flannel, jacket and pantaloons of domestic cotton and yarn cloth, and a coarse linen shirt. David has a wife belonging to Mr. John Ginger, who some years since moved from Culpeper county to Harrison county, Va. and for the last two years has been in habits of intimacy with a negro woman by the name of Rose, who was sold last fall, by Mrs. Berryman, of King George, to Mr. George Mason, of Gunston, Fairfax co. Va. it is probable he will attempt to get to one of these neighborhoods. Jack is a lively black fellow, about thirty years of age, of the middle size, a little bow legged, rather an awkward hand in the field, having been bred a house servant, at which he excells, rather a surly disposition, and by profession a Baptist. He has a father belonging to Mr John B. S. Fitzhugh, near Falmouth, Stafford co. Va. and a wife and family belonging to Mr. Thos. Fitzhugh, of Brenton, Prince William co. it is highly probable he is lurking in one of these neighborhoods; had on when he absconded, an old hat, a suit of domestic cloth cotton and yarn, and a brown linen shirt, and carried with him a suit of white domestic jeans. It is probable he and David will change their names and dress. FIFTY DOLLARS will be given for apprehending and securing in jail said negroes, or half for either, if taken in the state of Virginia, or District of Columbia; or the above reward, if taken out of the state, & all reasonable charges, if brought home to the subscriber's residence. Masters of vessels, and others, are forewarned from harboring or carrying off said negroes.

King George's county, Virginia.

BY VIRTUE of a power of attorney from William S. Courts to the subscriber, will be sold at public sale.

On WEDNESDAY, the 13th AUGUST, in Port Tobacco, that valuable tract of land whereon John H. Barnes at present resides called lying and being in Charles county Maryland, containing between three and four hundred acres. This land is handsomely situated, lying immediately on Matawoman Creek, at least one third of which is in wood, with a sufficient quantity of marsh land for grazing—that part of the land which is in cultivation is well adapted to the growth of corn, wheat and tobacco, and with proper care would be equal, if not superior to any land in that neighborhood.

At the same time and place, will be offered for sale the plantation at present in the occupancy of Francis & Sam'l Wheeler, lying about one mile from the above place, containing about four hundred acres. As it is presumed that persons wishing to purchase will first view the premises, it is thought unnecessary to give a more particular description thereof. The terms of sale will be as follows: viz. possession given on the first day of January next, at which time one third of the purchase money will be required, the remaining two thirds at one and two years the purchaser giving bond with approved security with interest.—Upon the payment of the whole purchase money, a sufficient deed will be executed to the purchaser.

JOHN HOPKINS

Hill and Dale, April 20.

Gunston for Sale.

THIS elegant estate is situated on the Potomac, 16 miles below Alexandria—it is bounded on three sides by the Potomac and Pohick creek, and contains nearly 3,000 acres of land, level and fertile, to which are attached six shad and herring fisheries, two of which command the river channel. This land will be laid off in four tracts, so as to have one or more fisheries to each; these tracts will be again divided if requisite. This estate is level and beautifully situated, very fertile, and remarkably healthy. Plaister acts with an effect equal to that of any part of Virginia or Pennsylvania.—I have used 500 bushels in twelve months, and such is its beneficial operation, that were I to keep this land I should considerably increase the quantity. A manufacturing mill is distant about two miles, on a stream navigable for vessels carrying 1200 bushels of wheat, where the Baltimore and Dist. of Columbia prices are given for grain: being bounded on 3 sides by water, a small extent only of fence is necessary to inclose the whole; it would be admirably adapted to grazing. The improvements are a large and very substantial brick mansion, 40 by 70 feet, with every necessary outhouse, three commodious barns, houses for Negroes, and fish houses at each of the fisheries. 120,000 bricks and 1000 bushels of lime are just burnt on the premises. There is a considerable extent of live fence, both useful and ornamental, two orchards of well selected apples and peach, besides an abundance of other choice fruit. More than 150 acres are in clover, 200 in corn, and land is in preparation for sowing 250 bushels of small grain. Any quantity of hay can be cut from the low grounds, some of which (and all might,) have been reclaimed at a trifling expense. The river and creeks, abound with wild fowl, particularly canvass backs, the woods with deer and a variety of other game. Mules, cattle, highly improved sheep, farming utensils and household furniture can be had. The terms of sale will be accommodating. Property in any of the cities, negroes, bank stock, western lands, or lands near the Ridge, will be taken in payment.—Letters must be addressed to me at Pohick Church, Fairfax county, Virginia.

S. Drew, Merchant Tailor,

Removed from Fairfax-street to the corner of King and Columbus streets, and his prices falling

RESPECTFULLY acquaints his customers and the citizens in general that he has removed as above, where he will study to give satisfaction. He has by him a small but well assorted stock of goods, which will be found on inspection to be of the best quality, the whole of which he wishes to sell low for cash, and as further inducements to purchasers he offers to cut out any goods, bought of him to any size or pattern gratis.

S. Drew aware, of the advantage a ready money business has over one where long credit is given, thinks that a distinction ought to be made in the prices in each case: and as the price of provisions are low at present, he is glad to be able to announce to those customers who will feel disposed to pay him ready money for his work, that he will reduce the price of making to them according to the present journeymen's wages; and to prevent any supposed imposition on the one hand or disatisfaction on the other he is willing to be governed by the printed regulations of prices by which the journeymen are paid in Alexandria.

N. B. Bread, flour, beef, groceries, liquors or any thing valuable taken in exchange for clothes.

S. Drew has this day opened a tavern in the same house, where he has laid in a supply of Philadelphia and the district porter and ale, together with liquors of the best quality, and he feels confident that he shall be able to give satisfaction to all who will please to favor him with a call.—He is fitting up his house for the accommodation of boarders, travellers, &c. and from its central situation, good beds and stabling, together with other requisites, he presumes that it will be found a convenient establishment. may 25
